Back In Time playing at London's O2 Arena in November.

Back In Time are pleased to announce our upcoming gig at London's O2 Indigo Arena on Friday 20th November.

We are providing the evening entertainment for a large corporate party and awards ceremony. Naturally we are very pleased to be performing in this excellent venue, and we are looking forward to the experience.

The band will be playing our two usual sets of 75 mins each, and will be supported by the O2's powerful sound system, and also the O2's lighting rigs.

There will also be a video made of the entire performance which will be made into a DVD for use as a demo. A number of our followers have already expressed an interest in a copy.

Now taking 2010 bookings!

Back In Time offers quality entertainment at sensible prices, so it's not surprising that clubs have already begun to approach us for bookings in 2010.
